Solekai Systems Names Tim McConnell VP of Engineering

31 March 2009 – San Diego, CA – Solekai Systems Corporation is pleased to announce its new Vice President of Engineering, Tim McConnell.

Tim comes to Solekai with over twenty years of engineering services experience as a software engineer, project manager and program manager. Prior to joining Solekai, Tim spent over seven years at Vision Robotics Corporation, a San Diego startup that began developing robotic vacuum cleaners. Tim not only worked on the initial vacuum cleaner project, but also managed multiple new Vision Robotics projects, specifically in the arena of robotics for agriculture. Before working at Vision Robotics, Tim held various roles, ending with Program Manager at Doctor Design, which later became Wind River Services, in their Digital Video Engineering Group.

Solekai's President, Martin Caniff sums up Tim's addition: "Working on projects ranging from Video on Demand to Real-time Embedded Firmware to artificial intelligence, Tim brings a wide breadth of experience that only enhances the stellar engineering team we have already at Solekai. Having worked with Tim before I know that no matter what role he's given, he invariably finds himself as a key contributor and valued member of each team he joins. We're incredibly honored to have him at Solekai."

Tim earned his bachelor's and his master's of science degrees at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
